

Competition 1 - In the Shoes of an Investor

It provides a great opportunity for the entrepreneurship and wanna-be Venture Capitalist enthusiasts out there. In this competition through several rounds, some information and news about a few companies would be given to the participants and they would have to take decisions on what amount they have to save and what they want to invest in which companies by optimizing their decisions considering various factors in mind like saving interest, profit, loss, etc.

Competition 2 - Wolf of Wall Street

It is a supply-demand concept-based competition that tests the optimization and strategizing skills of the participants. You have to cut various shapes out of paper in a limited amount of time which will have a particular price associated with it. Remember the rule of Supply and Demand - If supply increases and demand stays the same, prices will fall. An extremely fun team game, and at the same time, brainstorming and utilization of skills of each team member come into play as one proceeds into further rounds.

NOTE - Register in teams of 3 for each competition. There is a cap of 50 teams for each location. Link to Register: <https://forms.gle/JBvDqr8GHLDqPkfv9>
